

Everything you need to know about your cleaning business

TrackClean

Centralized Fleet Management

IMPORTANT

Track your equipment. Track your success.

Welcome to TrackClean—proven asset management technology designed to take the guesswork out of your cleaning operations and processes. Gone are the days of wondering if your business is optimized to deliver the best results. TrackClean gives you 24/7 access to equipment data in operations. That means you know exactly what's happening, when it's happening, and where it's happening—with every connected machine—so you can monitor, verify and improve your operational effectiveness.

Let your fleet do the talking.

With TrackClean, you don't just receive data about equipment efficiency and effectiveness. You also have the ability to prepare customizable performance and productivity reports that help verify that cleaning tasks are completed on time, every time.

Set a standard of total cleaning accountability.

With the optional Operator ID functionality, TrackClean provides precise details on who is using each machine and how effectively they are completing cleaning tasks. This ensures a high level of performance accountability and allows you to maximize the resources within your operation. In addition, TrackClean also provides early notification of issues and optional emergency call capabilities, so service managers can mitigate costly repairs and downtime.

Stop assuming your cleaning business is optimized. Know it with TrackClean.

SNAP
IT!

Total control means total peace of mind.

With the TrackClean Central Management System, no matter the size of your cleaning equipment fleet, you can leverage the power of cloud-based data reporting in real time to optimize your resources and productivity. That results in more cleaning time, more facilities cleaned, and more satisfied customers, and that's why TrackClean doesn't just track your equipment—it tracks your success.
